

CAPTAIN WESCOTT INSPECTS CO. L

Entire Company Assembles On Monday Night For Annual Review

The annual inspection of Company L of this city by Captain Robert H. Wescott of the United States army at the Armory Monday night was witnessed by a large number of spectators who evidenced deep interest in the drill, maneuvers and fine appearance of the guardsmen. The entire company responded for inspection.

While Captain Wescott's official report will not be received for at least two months it is believed that he was satisfied with the showing of the company.

Captain Wescott arrived from Ashland Monday forenoon and that afternoon inspected the property and equipment of the company. It required him exactly one hour and a half to do this work, a surprising fact when it is considered that in most armories it takes him nearly one afternoon to perform the same task. This speaks well for the neat and orderly condition in which the belongings of Company L are kept.

Captain Wescott left Tuesday morning for Wausau where he inspected the Wausau militia that evening.

New recruits are being received in Company L at each weekly meeting. Many of the old men whose terms of service have expired this spring are re-enlisting.

DENIES PRESS REPORTS

Billy Perkins Says Mahoney Had Nothing On Him

Despite the newspaper reports to the contrary Billy Perkins, the local middleweight, declares that his bout with Young Mahoney in Merrill last week, resulted in a good draw.

Billy and his wife returned from Merrill Friday. He says that at no time did the plumber have anything on him during the ten rounds of milking. He emerged from the encounter with no bad effects except a pair of slightly discolored optics. Perkins is not one of the bragging class of mitt artists and his friends are inclined to believe his story of the bout.

It is understood in this city that Mahoney is a prime favorite among the Merrill fans and it would be only natural for them to give him the best end of the argument.

The Merrill Daily Herald states that Perkins made a number of friends by his gameness and the fans there would like to see him box again.

TOURNAMENT SUCCESS

Ninety Entries In Annual City Bowling
Festival

The second annual city bowling tournament opened Monday night at the Lawrence alleys and is progressing successfully. There are ninety entries, which number is over twenty more than that of last year.

The highest team score to date is 2161 made by Arthur Soler's warriors. Kincaid and Laugesen made the highest double score 577.

517 is the highest single score, made by Joseph Buckley.

Eight teams are yet to bowl. The tournament ends Sunday.

IS HOME AGAIN

Oscar O. Jenne returned to the city the latter part of last week to spend the summer. Mr. Jenne passed the winter in the balmy south where snow storms and icy blasts are unknown. While the residents of Rhinelander were huzzing their fire places or shoveling "the beautiful" away from their front walks he was comfortably basking in the tropical sunshine and listening to the melodious notes of the mocking bird. Before returning to Rhinelander he spent a month in Ann Arbor, Mich.

BASE BALL FANS TO MEET FRIDAY

Will Act On Matter Of Organizing Team Here For This Season

Friday night there will be a meeting of fans at the city hall for the purpose of acting on the matter of organizing a base ball team in this city. Everyone interested in having the great national game represented in Rhinelander this season is urged to be at the meeting.

It is believed that a creditable team can be formed here with little trouble and expense. Charles Belliel, who two and three years ago was manager of Rhinelander's fast semi-pro nine, has received communications from several ball players who are anxious to come to this city for small money. Arthur Post has offered his services as catcher and other desirable timber can be secured here.

One of the most essential things for a good ball team is money. Without the coin it is impossible to get to first base and if the fans decide to have a club here they will be obliged to donate substantially.

The name of Charles Belliel is being mentioned for manager of the prospective team but Mr. Belliel says that he would rather not take the position. It is believed, however, that he will be persuaded to take charge of the team if it is organized here at the meeting.

DISSOLVE PARTNERSHIP

Harry Anderson Retires From Firm Of Anderson & Nick

The firm of Anderson & Nick which opened a furniture and undertaking establishment in the Hilgerman building on Stevens street last fall, has dissolved partnership. Harry Anderson retires from the firm and Jacob J. Nick Jr., will continue in charge of the business. As near as can be ascertained Mr. Anderson has announced no plans for the future.

Mr. Nick contemplates several improvements about the store and will increase his stock to one of the largest and most complete of its kind in northern Wisconsin. He is also an experienced embalmer and funeral director and will give special attention to this branch of the business.

Being a firm believer in advertising Mr. Nick will keep the public in constant touch with the many purchasing opportunities to be had at his store through the columns of the local newspapers.

WINTER HAD RELAPSE

Old King Winter finds it hard to die. Saturday he had a very slight relapse and not only cooled off the atmosphere to an uncomfortable degree but covered the ground with a generous coat of snow. The first warm rays of Old Sol Sunday morning caused the white mantle to vanish and the weather has since been pleasant.

ORGANIZE LIBRARIES

On June 12th a meeting will be held in Merrill of the purpose of organizing the Wisconsin River Valley Library association. The cities which will be represented at this convention are Grand Rapids, Stevens Point, Marshfield, Mosinee, Wausau, Antigo, Rhinelander, Tomahawk and Merrill.

C. O. F. IS GROWING

The court of the Catholic Order of Foresters in this city is experiencing a healthy growth. Sunday evening at St. Mary's parochial school hall several new candidates were taken into the order. The ceremony of initiation was followed by a banquet.

FIRST STRAW HAT

To Thomas O'Hare, that grand old man of the south side, belongs the distinction of being the first Rhinelander denizen to don a straw hat this season. Mr. O'Hare appeared down town several days ago wearing a vegetation lid which he said felt quite comfortable.

MILWAUKEE MERCHANTS COMING SIXTH OF JUNE

Trade Special Bearing One Hundred Cream City Men Will Visit Here Next Month

The Thirteenth Annual Trade Excursion of the Merchants and Manufacturers Association of Milwaukee, under the auspices of the Jagers Committee of that organization will take place the first week in June.

Rhinelander is included in the itinerary. Over one hundred of the prominent bankers, wholesalers, and manufacturers of the metropolis of our state will be with us on June 6, from 4:05 p. m. until 6:00 a. m. The tour this year will be entirely through the central part of Wisconsin embracing over thirty cities and towns of the state from Ft. Atkinson on the south to Rhinelander on the north.

The participants will use the finest private train that has ever been run through Wisconsin, fully equipped and electric lighted, with ten sleepers, two diners, a buffet car, a baggage car, a tourist sleeper for the train crew and another for the members of the Harvester Band, and the private car of the Chicago & North-western Railway officials. The train will be fully equipped with telephone exchange and service to Milwaukee furnished by the Wisconsin Telephone Company.

The men who will form this party will be made up principally of the heads of manufacturing establishments, jobbing houses and financial institutions, the idea of the Annual Trade Excursion being to cement more closely the business and personal relations between merchants of the cities visited and those of Milwaukee, the members of the party being desirous to learn as much as possible of the local industries and advantages of the towns visited. The leading Milwaukee papers will have representatives on the train who will write up each town, giving a good opportunity for local advertising.

The Milwaukeeans do not desire entertainment in the shape of banquets or elaborate receptions. They do not wish to prove a burden upon the hospitality of the communities which they are to visit, but they will appreciate thoroughly the opportunity to meet the representative business men of each city and town visited, to learn what each place has to offer in natural resources and its leading lines of manufacture, and to establish a community of interest between the state metropolis and the cities which stand in the same relation to the districts immediately surrounding them. They wish it understood that they come to receive as well as to furnish information; that this trip is intended to be a reciprocal affair, of advantage both to the visitors and the places visited.

VERDICT MUST STAND

State Supreme Court Can't Help Imperio and Roberti

Tuesday the Wisconsin supreme court affirmed the decision of the Marathon county circuit court in the case of the state vs. Antonio Imperio and Phillip Roberti, the Italians, who were convicted of the murder of John Radcliffe, sheriff of Vilas county, July 6, 1911, and sentenced to imprisonment for life at Waupun. The killing of Sheriff Radcliffe, which is still fresh in the minds of the people of northern Wisconsin, was one of the most cold blooded crimes ever committed in this vicinity.

ARBUTUS TO LEGISLATURE

Senator W. T. Stevens and E. W. Knapp distributed about fifty bunches of arbutus among the members of the Wisconsin legislature in Madison this week. The flowers were gathered near this city.

To the senators and assemblymen from the southern half of the state the arbutus was a rare treat.

HOUSE CLEANING TIME

Average Man Does Not Relish This Annual Event

This is house cleaning time which accounts for so many male members of Rhinelander families eating their meals in restaurants these days. No matter how dearly the average man loves his home he fails to find anything inviting about it when his wife begins to do the annual spring cleaning stunt.

Take a stroll through the residence sections of Rhinelander at the present time and one's nerves are nearly unstrung by the continuous whack, whack of the carpet beater. The porches and lawns are literally covered with about every movable object which the houses contain and if one can manage to push his way through the clouds of germ laden dust without being buried alive he is fortunate.

Yes, there are seasons of the year somewhat more pleasant than house cleaning time.

WILL ADVERTISE CITY AND COUNTY

Superior Telegram Man Here
Getting Material For A
Write-Up

Henry P. Peterson, traveling correspondent for the Superior Telegram, was in Rhinelander Friday and Saturday accumulating material for a write-up on Rhinelander and Oneida county for a special Northern Wisconsin number of the Telegram which will appear about June 1st.

This will be one of the greatest numbers ever issued by a Wisconsin newspaper. It will be in magazine form of one hundred pages, neatly printed on book paper, full of interesting matter bearing the commercial and agricultural resources of northern Wisconsin and well illustrated.

The entire work of compiling the number is being done by Mr. Peterson who is a newspaper man of unusual ability.

Thousands of copies will be issued and distributed throughout the county and it is conceded that the number will do more to advertise this part of the state than any publication ever printed.

The Oneida county board has appropriated two hundred and fifty dollars for a certain number of copies of the edition which will be distributed by the board free of charge. Such advertising may be the means of inducing many new settlers to locate in Oneida county.

Nearly every county board in the northern half of the state and many railroad companies and land agencies have contracted for copies.

NEW NORTH PLANS NOVEL CONTEST

Find "Missing Word" In New
North Ads---Prizes
Each Week

The New North plans to soon publish a number of small advertisements representing the leading business interests in Rhinelander. These ads will appear in twenty issues of the paper. In each issue there will be a number of words omitted in each advertisement, and the first person (not an employee of the New North) who correctly determines the words omitted that week and sends the answer to the "Missing Word Editor" of the New North under the rules that will be published. The New North will pay one dollar. A careful record will be kept of the words omitted, and the receipt of the answer and the name of the successful contestant will be published each week.

The purpose is to make these ads of unusual value to the advertisers by inducing readers of the New North to scan carefully every advertisement on the pages every week in order to make sure that every omission in that issue is noted for it will not be stated how many words, whether one, two, three, four or five are missing. The price of one dollar for the first correct solution each week is sure to excite a great deal of interest, and the advertiser whose name, business and location appears on the page will be well satisfied with the investment.

All settlements on contracts will be made with the New North. The advertisements will appear as early as possible. The indications are that the ads will appear soon, and it is thought not only that all advertisers will be well pleased with the outcome, but that any who decline the chance to get in will rather wish they had not.

D. T. Matteson has disposed of his property in Wausau to the Wausau Realty & Loan company. Consideration $3,200.

WEEK'S DOINGS IN LEGISLATURE

Important News Events From The Capital City Of Wisconsin

(New North's Madison Correspondent)
A bill has been introduced in the senate placing a heavy penalty upon railroad companies for placing work-write-ups on Rhinelander and Oneida county between Monday and Tuesday for a special Northern Wisconsin number of the Telegram which will appear about June 1st. This bill was introduced by Senator Peterson. It is of little immediate effect except as a club over the railroads to compel them to give safety of the railway mail clerks and the traveling public more consideration. It is hoped that Congress will amend the new law prohibiting the construction of wooden cars at an earlier date.

The bill introduced at Madison has the backing of the railway mail clerks and traveling men's associations, and will get general support from the progressives in the legislature. Wisconsin is the first state to take up this question, and will lead the states in regulating the great question of public safety. In almost every train wreck, including several recent wrecks in Wisconsin, lives have been lost by the telescoping of wooden cars by steel cars.

Anti-Discrimination Bill Passed

The legislature has passed the Hull anti-discrimination bill. This bill makes discrimination in price between localities and individuals with the intention of stifling competition unlawful and fixes a maximum penalty of $5,000. The prosecution of the statute is placed in the hands of the attorney general. It is maintained by the friends of the bill that it will do a great deal to prevent in this state the operations of monopolies.

Loan Postal Savings On Farms

The assembly has adopted a memorial to congress to make the deposits in the postal savings banks available for loans on farms in sections that need aid in agricultural development. This is one of several propositions presented in the interests of the unimproved agricultural lands of northern Wisconsin.

Teachers' Pension

Two teachers' pension bills have been considered. One to make a separate class of rural teachers, giving them pensions at twenty instead of twenty-five years, has been twice reported for indefinite postponement in the assembly. One to grant pensions to normal school teachers, has been killed in the assembly. There has been no advancement of bills to change materially the present teachers' insurance and retirement fund. Some changes will be made in laws governing teachers' and training school graduates' certificates.

Cooperative Instruction

The Axel Johnson bill authorizing the university to prepare a course of cooperative instruction to be given at the two weeks short course for farmers, has passed the senate. The course provides for instruction along cooperative lines in all matters pertaining to the farming industry.

Hearing Bills

Hearings on some of the larger measures before the legislature are now being held. The market commission bill has been given three public hearings this far and much interest has been manifested in them. Water powers were given a hearing this week for the first time. The water power fight is between the bill introduced by the special committee on conservation and the bill introduced at the instigation of the waterpower owners. Both bills provide that the waterpowers be subject to the control of the rate commission. Hearings are also being held on the mothers' pension bill.

Marriage Licenses

Assemblyman Gallickson's bill relating to applications for marriage licenses has passed both houses. (Continued on page 4.)

Children's May Party. "RING AROUND A-ROSY". Is there a mother who does not remember the pretty frock she wore at her first May party? Bring your kiddies to our CHILDREN'S DAY PARTY and fit them out with all the pretty things at little cost.

We love this day, and we want your babes to wear our pretty things from the moment they doddle—some of the most fascinating moments we have are thinking of the babes who have grown to the misses' or masters' stage.

We love to watch them grow, and it is a joy to remember the pretty frock, or coat and smart bonnet from the season before—or even longer; and sometimes we see them "passed down," and here our memory serves you well for suggestion.

Yes indeed, we like to fit them out from season to season, and then, too, when we make our selections, we think of your children and say: "OH! Doesn't that look like Miss Daisy or Master Bob? and so May 2nd is Children's Day at our store. There are pretty surprises for them from head to toe. Bring the children—let them roam about. Our salespeople love youngsters, and May 2nd is their day.

"THE MISSOURI GIRL"

The character of "Zeke Dobson" the country boy in "The Missouri Girl" is one of unique conception. Among the many impersonations of the rural types offered to the theatre-going public, there are but few limited cases where the author has even attempted to portray this interesting character as he is seen in real life.

The stage character of the farmer is so thoroughly impressed on our minds that it is almost impossible for us to imagine a rural play without the usual impossible characters that are, in many cases a serious drawback to an otherwise good play. "Zeke" as played by the droll comedian, is a true portrayal of an honest, bright, intelligent country boy; his dialect and actions are both peculiar and droll and he says and does what is natural. When in the city he makes ludicrous mistakes and his idea of "city folks" and the remarks he makes about them are extremely comical, but at the same time true to life.

"The Missouri Girl" will be seen at the Grand Opera House on Sunday, May 4.

"The Studebaker idea has been in our family for sixty years. We have never thought of buying any other kind of a wagon."

"It's true, we're continually being offered other wagons costing a little less, with lots of promises as to what they will do. But we know in our family what a Studebaker will do. A few dollars difference in price doesn't mean much. It's the service a wagon gives that we consider most."

"Long service for a fair price means more every time than short service for a few dollars less."

"That's why we stick to Studebaker—and 'Stick to Studebaker' is a pretty good motto for a man who uses wagons."

"Studebaker wagons are built of good stuff. They're made right by people who've had years and years of experience in making them right—people who are trusted the world over."

DANGER FROM GRIPPE

Lies in That Cough and Weak, Worn-out Condition.

Grippe, pleurisy, pneumonia, these are greatly to be feared at this time of the year.

To prevent grippe from being followed by either pleurisy or pneumonia, it is important to drive the last traces of it out of the system quickly.

Our advice is to take Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron preparation without oil, and get your strength and vitality back quickly.

Mrs. A. A. Grabill, of Strasburg, Va. says: "Grippe left me weak, run down and with a severe cough, from which I suffered four years. I tried different remedies, but nothing seemed to do me any good until I took Vinol, from which I received great benefit. My cough is almost entirely gone, and I am strong and well again, and I am glad to recommend Vinol to others who suffer as I did."

Try Vinol with the certainty that if it does not benefit you we will give back your money.

WEEKLY COLUMN FOR THE FARMERS

Timely Article From The Pen
Of E. L. Luther, County
Representative

The Chicago and Northwestern railroad has given the agricultural representative a splendid volume on potato growing to be given as a premium to the boy under eighteen years of age who will make the best exhibit of Rural New Yorker potatoes of his own growing at the county fair. Other premiums for this kind of potatoes will be offered. So the boys ought to get busy and plant some Rural New Yorkers.

Two good meetings of farmers were held on Sunday in the town hall in Sugar Camp township. Cows were tested and dairy matters, better seeds and seed potatoes and silos were discussed.

If you want to enjoy some good road, you will find it in Sugar Camp township. John Rhoda has already used the split-log drag. This is just the time of year to do a lot of good road work and do it cheaply.

It is worth while to visit Tamarack Farm in Sugar Camp and see Brown Brothers' splendid line of grade Guernsey heifers. They are beauties. A. Stapleford and Knapp and Jones are also coming forward with good Guernsey herds. Charles Kuzel, foreman at Tamarack Farm, puts out fine cream and butter that find ready sale at top prices in Rhinelander. His butter bears the label of the Tamarack Farm. These Guernsey herds are examples of what can be done in Oneida county by following a consistent breeding policy. Prosperity follows these cattle.

Joe Hasterock, one of the Short Course boys from Cassian, in the work last winter, learned how to do the Babcock test and run the gasoline engine. Now he is testing milk and cream over in Cassian and is a gasoline engine doctor over there. He is also helping the teachers of Cassian to learn how to do the Babcock test. The Short Course did good that time.

A line from Alex Neue from Waukegan says that he is on a fine dairy farm down there. Alex was one of the Short Course boys last winter. He says that there is great money in breeding good pure bred and grade dairy cattle. He likes his work. Again the Short Course got in good work.

Mrs. George Dawes of Tomahawk Lake makes splendid butter. A sample was sent in for testing for moisture and it tested very low in moisture showing lots of butter to the pound. The butter was solid and stood up and was evenly worked and of good texture.

It is a sight to see out on the farm of Harry Baxter. He has forty acres of stumps all out and ready to be piled. Mr. Baxter will have one of the finest farms out when he gets it stumped. He has good buildings and good fences. It is a beautiful valley in which his farm is located. Boom, Boom! No, it's not a battle. It is the boys blowing out stumps and it sounds good. The acreage will be largely increased in Oneida county this summer.

This is about the last appeal to the farmers to sow and plant only good seed. It is not big crops that make big yields. But it is fine stands of crops that make good yields and fine stands come from seeds every one of which will grow and grow good and strong. Farmers don't buy cheap seed. Get clean seed testing at least 90 percent. It is good to hear from the dealers that farmers are demanding better seeds and that poor seeds don't go any longer.

Don't forget Professor J. C. Milward's potato meeting at the court house, Thursday, May 8, at 2 p. m. Every man interested in better potatoes should turn out. Let's get in line with our greatest crop.

The time of the agricultural representative is taken up pretty well with teaching and work upon the fair grounds plots these days. Next week most of the afternoon will be taken up with teaching and from then on until the last of June. Farmers desiring calls from the representative will please address a card to him. It will be very hard to make more calls than those called for. But time will be taken to make at least those.

POST WILL STAY HERE

The Antigo newspapers state that Arthur Post of this city will do the catching on the Antigo base ball team this season. Arthur says that this is news to him. He prefers to wait and see what Rhinelander is going to do toward organizing a team before he consents to play elsewhere. Arthur is one of the best ball players in this part of the state and is a valuable asset on a team. He admits that he would rather play on the Rhinelander nine if such is formed, than go to Antigo.

FOOLS WILL VENTURE WHERE ANGELS FEAR TO TREAD.

When it comes to a question of grey matter we are ready to match our cranium against the shallow pates of special interest tools any day.

It is not surprising that "Little Eddie" took steps toward shaking the dust of Rhinelander from his feet when it is realized that he considers the electorate of the town so "immoral."

My, but Eddie got nasty last week. We never knew it was in the frail little chap to give vent to such venomous explosions of wrath. Those "two for five" must have got on his nerves.

It is nonsense to talk of rejuvenating the republican party with Taft or any other stalwart as standard bearer. LaFollette's past record fits him for the type of a man the voters demand.

The Allen Land Bill of California has been softened by the influence of Secretary Bryan and it is believed will pass with little opposition. Japar has a law which is much like the bill they are so bitterly attacking, now before the California Legislature.

No one with a spark of common sense would ever accuse a poor little excuse of humanity who serves as a figure head for a private privilege bunch as being mentally deteriorated. There is no danger of mental deterioration where intellect does not exist.

The News slave kindly grants us the privilege of continuing to call him Friday if it affords us pleasure. It must be admitted that there are other names which would fit him more appropriately but our sentimentally instinct prevents us from using them.

We would advise the new assistant editor of the News to give his own business the attention it needs clean up his own product; be honest with his customers, live something near within the laws of the state and nation before going into editorial business.

You can not expect anything for the common people from an organ whose president, in a contest characterizes the people on one side as "nothing but laborers and farmers." It may be advisable to later print the whole letter from which the above quotation is taken.

One great drawback to our side of the forestry controversy at Madison is that the men, who sell some of the land and tried to sell more at a greatly increased price and failed, became bitter opponents to the whole forestry policy. The chief forester now has letters recorded to this effect.

Now that our contemptible contemporary has unloaded himself of the filth with which he besmirched the editorial columns of his last issue, it is to be hoped that he feels better. No one but a cur of the most miserable calibre would stoop so low as to blacken the pages of an American newspaper with such nauseating falsehoods.

Certainly it is a great compliment the News pays to the intelligence and respectability of the voters of this city when it says that Frank Pecor is the "boss of the council." We elected and then call Pecor the lowest beast on earth.

Citizens, Councilmen, do you feel honored with the compliment of the News?

Little Friday is a good one to accuse us of insulting business men because we do not get their printing. A little over a year ago he attacked a man's business and when the man complained of such treatment, Friday said, "you do not give me business." Again he seeks a chance to sue the man and like a contemptible little cur advertises the fact on the front page of his "special interest sheet" for no other reason than to injure the man. And then this same little tool accuses us of doing things just fitted for his little mind.

"CLEAN-UP" SUGGESTIONS

The mayor of Denver, Col., makes the following suggestions for "Clean-Up Day" and for beautifying the city:

If your store front, residence or house is dingy, paint it.

If your awning is old, torn or faded, get a new one.

If your sidewalk, gate or fence needs repainting, fix it.

If your advertising sign is old or faded, take it down or paint it.

Resolve never to throw paper in the street.

Burn all rubbish possible. Allow no one to throw it on the streets, alleys or vacant lots.

Promise not to spit on the sidewalk.

Organize a block improvement society, and allow no weeds to grow on sidewalk area or vacant property in your block.

Make your lawn the finest.

Illuminate the front of your store in the business section.

Every effort put forth or dollar spent to improve the city's appearance will be returned two fold.

While there is no question that Griffith's scheme for the making of forest reserve out of 1,250,000 acres of excellent agricultural lands in Oneida, Vilas, Price and Iron counties received an awful jolt at Madison last week, when large delegations from said counties went down to fight for reasonable consideration of the matter, it is true just the same that the danger is not past. Therefore the project advanced by Rev. H. Halinde of this city, for a permanent intercounty organization of the business men and farmers of the northern counties, was not only wise but timely. In the years to come, and not so far in the future, either men will contemplate the agricultural wealth of this section of the state and will be filled with wonder that any sane men ever seriously considered its dedication to the interests of the tourist, sportsmen and the experimenter with doubtful and expensive plans of so-called conservation. It is hard for some folks in the lower parts of the state to believe that many thousands of progressive people are inhabitants of and work in the big north woods with the enthusiastic purpose of making permanent homes here in the best part of Wisconsin. They will come to learn the truth in time, and all rejoice that the visionary schemes of Griffith and his followers were repudiated.—Crandon Forest Echo.

DANGER NOT OVER

A few months ago the so-called editor of the News was advising people to use also because of the better trust and also claimed that also was cleaner than butter. Now he has taken the manager of the treasury to his bosom for the reason he has had a few printing jobs the New North lost simply because it stood between sewer contaminated ice and an honest public.

Rhinelander came rear having an awful loss. Some weeks ago Little Friday tried to get control of a newspaper and job office in West Allis but the owners of the plant did not enthuse to accept his proposition. Even though the little fellow tries to wear a conventional smile it must be that this atmosphere is not congenial to him. His failure to succeed in consummating the deal certainly saved the community from a dreadful calamity.

When the News was established as the organ of the "special interest" to destroy the New North, the people's organ, their first step was to join hands with the brewery interests and make the secretary of the brewery the secretary of the News and solicit ads from the brewery interests which they still carry. Why should they be so hypocritical as to advocate the sale of the brew in one column and abuse and try to degrade the saloon keeper who must exist to sell the beer? If they were honest and sincere, they would refuse to advertise the beer. "Consistency, thou art a jewel."

The readers too well know that in all the controversies between the News and the New North on questions in which the common people were interested on one side and the special interests on the other, the New North stood squarely with the public and the News was for its masters. After failing to deceive the people through misrepresentation the News had to withdraw from the contest and take a new tack—which is endeavoring to lower the character of respectable citizens. Their malignity in this case is looked upon by the people with just about as much seriousness as its previous untruthful outbursts.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Danelli were in Rhinelander today. Perry says that he is the champion horse shod in northern Wisconsin. He can shoe a horse in twenty minutes.

NEWS IN WRONG

The New North, this spring, took no active part in the municipal election further than advocate the reelection of office holders who had worked for the best interests of the public. The misinterpretation of our honest efforts of a year ago made it seem advisable to take this stand. However, one would think by reading the rank misrepresentations of the News that we had assisted in the election of certain candidates. The antagonism of a large majority of the city council toward the News is due in no way to any action on the part of the New North but we do believe it is justly due to the incompetency, past record and lack of tact of the News. To us it seems a case of destroying their own future.

THE SWINEHERD.

A rooting hog needs something besides a ring in his nose. He needs something in his feed which he does not get or he would not root. It is up to you to supply this.

By actual experiment it has been found that by feeding alfalfa hay with corn the cost of fattening pigs has been decreased about one-half.

It is nearly always best to save some of the old sows, especially to farrow the early spring litters.

When pure bred swine are kept for breeding purposes they should be given every opportunity for bone and muscle development rather than the production of fat.

Unless wisely fed and cared for a herd of fine hogs will degenerate rapidly.

CARE OF COLTS IN WINTER.

Liberal Feeding Needed to Develop the Young Animals.

There is a great tendency on the part of many to neglect the colts on the farm during the winter. It too often happens that there is an apparent shortage of feed, and the result is that colts are slighted. One way of ruining a young colt is to have his growth stunted during the first year or two. Most of the colts on the farm get a good start the first six months of their lives from the fact that they are allowed to suckle the dam during that time. Early fall provides them with good pasture, and possibly they have been receiving some oats or shared a part of the feed of the mare. Such treatment puts them in good shape for the winter. But liberal feeding must be kept up if a strong, well developed and matured horse is expected. The colt's system requires a considerable amount of bone and muscle building material, and this can only be had by feeding nitrogenous feeds, such as oats, a little bran, oilmeal and, if obtainable, some clover hay. The feeding of corn, so often practiced, is not desirable for the growing colt, but had better be confined to the matured horses. Access to the straw pile will not hurt a growing colt, but he should not be compelled to rely on the straw pile for a livelihood.

The question is often asked, Why do we find so many promising colts at the county fairs during the fall and such poor yearlings? The foregoing statement is in part explanatory of such a condition of affairs.

One of the best forms of investment on the farm is the liberal feeding of farm animals of all kinds, and the colt is no exception. A well bred colt if properly taken care of and fed the right kind of feed during his first three years of life will bring from $75 to $100 more when three years old than the one that is neglected and poorly fed. Good young horses are always in demand on the market and can only be supplied from the farms where colts receive the proper care and treatment.—W. H. Tomhave, Extension Division, Minnesota Agricultural College.

Cause and Treatment of Curb.

Anything that puts too much stress on the ligament situated on the back part of the hock joint, such as holding back heavy loads, going down hill or backing up too heavy loads or the hind legs slipping too far under the horse's body, may cause curb disease. writes Dr. D. McIntosh in Orange Judd Farmer. It is also caused by kicks or by the whiffletree striking against the back of the hock joint.

There will be swelling and heat in the part and lameness. In some cases there will be swelling, but no lameness. If the swelling is hot and tender to the touch mix half an ounce acetate of lead and two ounces tincture of arnica with one quart of water. Shake up and apply a little to the swollen part three times a day and continue until the heat and swelling disappear. If there should be any swelling after the heat and lameness have disappeared mix one teaspoonful of linoleate of mercury with eight tablespoonfuls of lard. Rub on a little of this mixture with the fingers, let it remain on for twenty-four hours, then wash off with warm water and soap and repeat the blister in three weeks if needed. In cases where there is swelling, but no heat or lameness, the lotion would be of no use, but the above blister should be used as directed. In old or long standing cases of curb, if the animal is not lame, it is best to let it alone, as medicines would be of no service.

Fattening Cattle.

The Indiana experiment station has found that the best winter ration for fattening cattle consists of two and one-half pounds of cottonseed meal per 1,000 pounds of live weight and all the corn the animal will eat, with a small amount of dry roughage like clover or alfalfa hay or corn stover or oat straw added. Steers fed on this ration made the best gains with the highest finish and greatest economy of any combination.

Chinese Paper Money.

Paper money is said to have had its origin in China in the year 906, when the government issued it to relieve a financial stringency, receiving coin in return, which enabled it to pay off outstanding obligations. In the museum of St. John's college in Shanghai is a paper bill worth 1,000 cash, the equivalent of 50 cents American money, which was issued by the first Ming Emperor (Hungwu A. D. 1368-1398). It is nearly two feet long and one foot wide, printed on mulberry bark paper, and is a dark slate color.—Argonaut.

Little Dorothy had never before visited her grandfather, who lived in the country. The chickens occupied her undivided attention for half her first day at the farm. Finally she sought her grandfather and shyly asked: "Grandpa, do all hens eat with their noses?"

It Happened in School.

The story is told of a teacher who recited to her pupils "The Landing of the Pilgrims," after which she requested each pupil to try to draw from the description a picture of the Plymouth Rock. One little fellow raised his hand and asked: "Please, teacher, do you want us to draw a hen or a rooster?"

Playfulness is a good means of softening social distances. A stiff, grave man is always in danger of being feared too much. On the other hand, as the selflove of many people is suspicious in the extreme, you must expect that your innocent playfulness will often be mistaken for ridicule.—Sir Arthur Helps.

Waist Occupation.

Stubb—What's the trouble, old chap? You look angry enough to fight. Penna—Oh, I'm sizzling. It took me an hour to button up my wife's waist in the back, and then I told her a joke and she laughed so much the buttons all flew open. What's the use in telling a woman a joke, anyway?

To Clean Ivory.

Make prepared chalk into a paste with sal volatile and olive oil, equal parts of each of the latter; apply the paste with a soft brush, let it dry, then put on another layer; let it remain on two or three hours, then rub off and polish with a soft brush and a duster.

Neck Rings.

What the women in the Shan Hills of Upper Burmah want is a long neck. Beauty is estimated from the extended head pivot. From childhood the women wear tight rings of brass about the neck, and at the slightest relief from the strain another ring is added. Besides the rings around their necks, they wear heavy rings on their legs.

For Rusted Saws.

When the saw becomes rusted it may be removed with emery dust mixed with sweet oil. Apply this with a large corncob.

Remedy for Chapped Hands.

Quarter of an ounce of camphor, the same of sweet oil and white wax, place together in a cup to melt until thoroughly mixed. Well wash the hands in warm water and good soap, just before going to bed, rub thoroughly dry, then apply the remedy, rubbing it well in; sleep in loose gloves with holes cut in the palms.

Fixing Their Relations.

Mrs. Jameison Smythe (to the mail in her first job)—"You mustn't keep on calling me Mrs. Jameison-Smythe every time you address me. You should say, 'Yes, mum,' or 'No, mum.'"

Sally—"Oh, I can't call yer mum, because that's wot I calls me mother. But I'll call yer auntie if yer like!"

TOM HARRISON'S HOME

By FRANK H. MELOON.

Tom Harrison smiled rather shamefacedly as he surveyed the completely furnished six-room apartment. Weary of his 30-odd years of bachelor life, the young architect had reserved a suite of one of his latest model apartment houses to gratify a fad which for the past two years had amounted almost to an obsession.

He wanted to see what a home would look like, a home furnished after the desires of his own heart. Now it was finished. He was pleased with the result, but thought amusedly of what his friends would say if they knew.

At that moment there was a gentle knock on the door. In response to his hearty "Come in!" a girl barely out of her teens entered. She was clad in a brown corduroy with filmy lace at the throat that set off her rare beauty effectively.

"Is Emily here?" she asked, after an approving glance at the rich furnishings, noticing that Tom was alone. "Emily?" he repeated, wondering whom she could mean. "No, she is not here."

"But she told me—" "She told you she would be here?" "Yes," explained the visitor perplexedly. "She told me she would certainly be here to meet me."

"Well, she hasn't come as yet." "Are you Mr. Walker?" "No, my name is Harrison—Tom Harrison. I'm the architect who planned this building."

"You're a friend of Mr. Walker and Emily, of course?" "I don't like to admit it, but I've never heard of them," he confessed whimsically, wishing sincerely that he had.

"But," she persisted, beginning to feel ill at ease, "surely this is to be their suite?" "I think not. I've reserved this suite for myself."

"It's Suite 2A, isn't it?" "It's Suite 2B."

He was relieved to see the girl's features relax into an appreciative smile. "It is plain to you, of course," she apologized, "that I have blundered in to the wrong apartments. My chum Emily Philbrick and Mr. Walker are to be married tomorrow, and Emily wanted me to come and see the suite in which they are to live."

"If it is Suite 2B, I will take pleasure in showing it to you," he offered. Emily Philbrick met them at the door. In the course of the explanations that followed, Tom Harrison learned that his visitor was none other than Elsie Gibson, the girl artist who had been winning fame in the magazines.

During the year that followed, he was a frequent visitor at her studio, each acknowledging the charm of the other's acquaintance. Then suddenly Elsie Gibson disappeared, leaving no word as to whether she had gone.

Tom Harrison's quest after Elsie Gibson was most energetically followed, yet no trace of her could he discover. It finally occurred to him that he had once heard her mention the fact that her father, a widower, had a little farm at Upperjay in the Adirondacks. A study of complicated railway timetables resulted in his taking the wrong train, righting his error, and, after much delay and numerous changes, in his reaching Upperjay.

He failed to find a livery stable, but did enter into negotiations with a passing farmer who, with apparent reluctance, at last consented to take him to the Gibson farm.

At the gate, with a freshly gathered garland of roses and sweet-scented thyme, stood a familiar little figure, looking very forlorn until she recognized Tom Harrison.

"Oh, Tom," she cried gladly, "you don't know how lonesome I have been." Her manner changed quickly, as if she were holding herself in restraint. "But now I suppose I ought to address you as Mr. Harrison."

"Why, Elsie?" bluntly. She looked surprised. "Because of your approaching marriage, of course."

"My approaching marriage?" he asked, mystified. "Certainly."

"But I didn't know I was going to be married."

"That is very strange indeed, since it was printed in the paper."

"Elsie, this is all nonsense. Where did you see that clipping?" "I found it lying on your writing desk."

"I thought so, girlie. Well, now allow me to explain. More than 19 years ago I had a boy-and-girl affair. We called it love, and were going to get married. She took the notice to the society editor of the Clarion. Afterwards the engagement, such as it was, was broken off by mutual consent. I naturally enough saved the clipping, and I presume it fell from among my papers."

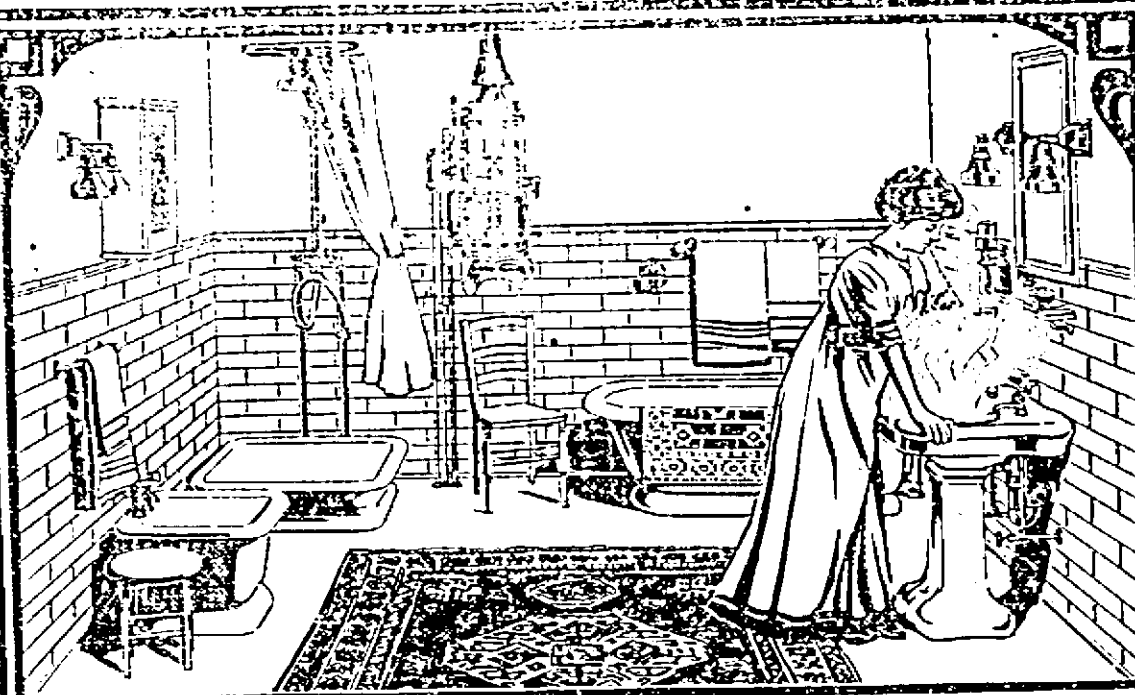

As naturally as one takes a beautiful flower, Tom Harrison took Elsie Gibson in his arms. "Elsie?" he whispered. "Yes, Tom."

"That date in that wedding announcement was Sept. 15, wasn't it?" "Yes," very faintly.

"You have inspected the suite I fitted up for a bride I had never seen. It satisfied you?" "Yes, Tom," still more faintly. He had to bend close to catch the words.

"Then let's consider that wedding announcement our own."

There are times when silence gives consent.

Woman's Suffrage Department

Edited by Mrs. C. P. Crosby, Pres. E. S. L. and Mrs. J. J. Reardon, Assistant in Press Work.

State Assembly Votes on Suffrage Bill

On Thursday of last week our state assembly voted on the Glen woman's suffrage bill. The vote was 51 for, and 34 against it. The bill had already passed the senate and provides that the question of giving women the right to vote in Wisconsin should be submitted to the people at the general election in 1914.

After the bill was passed, it has been since voted to reconsider it, and it will have a rehearing Wednesday of this week. If by any chance it should be then lost, there are two similar bills ready to be introduced. The subject will not be dropped, and it is hoped when submitted to the vote of the men next time those interested will work to better purpose than last year—and have the matter settled in the only way it ever will be settled.

The present session of congress has recently adopted the following resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution of the United States, to extend the right of suffrage to women.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in congress assembled (two-thirds of each House concurring therein), that the following article be proposed to the legislatures of the several states as an amendment to the constitution of the United States, which, when ratified by three-fourths of the said legislatures, shall be valid as part of said constitution:

Article
Section 1. The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex.

Section 2. The congress shall have power, by appropriate legislation, to enforce the provisions of the article.

Even far away Alaska has given the ballot to women recently. The vote was unanimous in both houses of the Alaska legislature. No constitutional amendment is needed in Alaska.

Recover Stolen Tombstone.

A stolen tombstone was unearthed during excavations following a recent fire in a shop in Girvan (Ayr). The workmen dug out a tombstone in an excellent state of preservation, bearing the following inscription: "By Anthony Campbell, Saddler, in Memory of His Daughter, Jean. Died July 1st, 1826, Aged 18 Years and Six Months." It is believed that the stone was stolen from the old Girvan churchyard and converted into a hearthstone, a quite common occurrence in the early days of the nineteenth century.—London Mail.

Simple Remedy for Burns.

Common whitening, mixed with water to the consistency of a thick cream spread on linen, forms an excellent local application to burns and scalds. The whole burnt surface should be covered, thus excluding the action of the air. The ease it affords is instantaneous, and it only requires to be kept moist by occasional sprinkling of cold water.

MRS. STEWART GETS FINE

Antigo Woman Pays $250 For Attempted Blackmail

Mrs. Maude E. Stewart of Antigo pleaded guilty Monday to a charge of having used the United States mails with intent to blackmail, and paid a fine of $250 which was imposed by Judge Geiger in federal court in Milwaukee.

The complaining witness was Mrs. E. H. Van Ostrand of Antigo, who is said to be a social leader of that city.

It was alleged that the defendant sent Mrs. Van Ostrand a letter intimating that she would circulate an adverse report unless she received $100.

Owing to the prominence of the parties involved the case attracted considerable attention. Mrs. Stewart is well known in Rhinelander, having at one time resided in this city.

BOOM FOR OLANAH

A deal is under consideration whereby the Stearns Lumber company will purchase a big tract of timber tributary to the Olanah reservation. The timber will be saved in the company's mill in Olanah which will mean a boom for that village. The most of the timber is hemlock and it is believed that if the deal materializes that a tannery will be built in Olanah.

CHILD DIES FROM SHOCK

Freida Gibcke the three year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Gibcke of Arlor Vitae died last Thursday evening from a shock caused by scalding. Mrs. Gibcke prepared to scrub the floor and set a pan of hot water on the floor and the child while playing backed into it. The Times extends sympathy to the bereaved parents.—Minocqua Times.

Word Much Misused.

"Fix" is one of the words that we Americans habitually misuse, but it is not often that the mistake leads to such absurdity as it does in the label of a certain stain-remover now on the market. "It will fix the stain," says the notice. Since "fix" means to make permanent, the manufacturers of the stain-remover have not said quite what they intended to say.—Youth's Companion.

OVERCOMING DRAFT ON SIDE

Four-Horse Evener Arranged So That No Horse Would Need to Walk on Plowed Ground.

In reply to a query for an arrangement of four-horse evener on plow so that no horse need walk on the plowed ground the Farmers Call and Breeze prints the following.

Many three-horse evens do not overcome side draft. The power is so far to one side that the two horses push the tongue over against the one horse. Here is a remedy for any number of horses on one side of tongue and one horse on the other:

Put the tongue hole, or pull pole, in evener so that the length of shorter end will be to the length of the longer one in the proportion of 1 to 2, for three-horse evener. Or in the proportion of 1 to 3 or 1 to 4 if you have a four or five horse evener.

Fasten a chain from short end of evener to doubletree, which will be on opposite side, and run a chain from long end of evener to singletree. Put in push rods from center of power on either side to tongue, or if there is no tongue from center of one power to center of the other power.

Musical Criticism.

A western musical critic thus speaks of a prima donna: "She had, and we suppose still retains, a magnificent voice for a fog whistle. Its compass was perfectly surprising. She would shake the chandelier with a wild whoop that made every man instinctively feel for his scalp, and follow it up with a roar that would shame a bassoon."

Story Jones Tells.

Some years ago in a western mining town a man was found dead in his hotel room hanged to a bedpost by his suspenders. The jury of miners brought in the following verdict at the coroner's inquest: "Deceased came to his death by coming home full and mistaking himself for his pants."

Immense Auto Industry.

Few persons, however well they may be informed about the vast extent of the automobile industry, would estimate the consumption of cotton in making fabrics for motor vehicle tops and tires at anything like the true figures, which are about 1,500,000 bales.

Use Sea Water in Baking.

The local papers are complaining about the size of the bread sold by the Iroquois bakers, who, besides charging two and one-half cents for a loaf of bread of 22 grams weight, it is said are using sea water in their bakeries.—From the West Coast Leader, Lima, Peru.

AROUND THE CIRCLE

Mrs. Robert Collins and children, of Kansas City, Mo., expect to spend the greater part of the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Byers at Sunset Hill.

H. Weidenman is turning over the good old soil on the Christ Nelson place again this spring and expects to turn out some "bumper" crops.

As the old saying goes "It takes the Dutch to beat the Irish" is proving true this spring in the towns of Crescent and Pelican. The Mayor of Crescent has got the Mayor of Pelican "skinned" 7 days in the week in the way of road building thus far but we expect to see this reversed before the season is over.

Wm. Gilley and Arthur Lane commenced building operations upon the Tost place and have the frame of their buildings up.

There must be some strong attraction that causes Ed. Boyce to linger in the vicinity of the Lasse district of late. We think his actions will bear investigation.

The farmers are once more busy preparing the soil for their crops and the plows are again visible in all directions turning over the good old mother earth.

A fine program was rendered at the last day of Miss Tegetz's school in the Lasse district Friday afternoon by the scholars after which a bounteous repast was served by the parents of the children. The day was all that could be asked for, warm and pleasant, and all were well pleased with the occasion.

THE PRICE

The Grand Opera House will have as its attraction on May 15, Edna Marshall in "The Price" which set all New York theater goers apace last season by the great strength it developed as a drawing attraction. It far outdid its original booking at the Hudson theater.

In "The Price", George Broadhurst, its author has drawn characters of very human people, and the story is one which is frank in its appeal to the emotions. A young girl sins and suffers and is all but forgiven by the man she loves who can not overlook an offense she did not commit but which he believes she did.

"Young man," said the magistrate, severely, "the assault you have committed on your poor wife is a most brutal one. Do you know of any reason why I should not send you to prison?" "If you do, your honor," replied the prisoner at the bar, hopefully, "it will break up our honeymoon."

MANURE FOR CABBAGE

Deep, Rich, Mellow Soil is of Importance.

Winter Variety, Is Mostly Grown on Early Potato Ground—Hotbeds Are Prepared in February and Seed Sown in Frames.

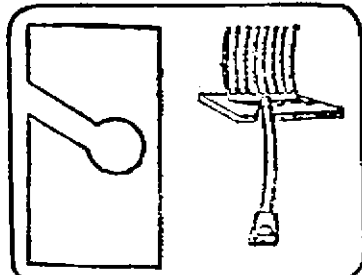

Cabbage likes a deep, rich, mellow soil. For summer cabbage, a mellow, sand loam will bring the earliest crop. The early June cabbage that is shipped to the Baltimore markets is mostly grown on the deep river bottom lands of the lower portion of Baltimore county, says the Baltimore American. A large portion of this cabbage is grown from night soil which, after fermentation, is sprinkled along the rows, just before the plants are set in the fall. If this fertilizer is thoroughly mixed through the soil it is said not to injure the quality of the cabbage. For the fall and winter cabbage crop, plant on deep, mellow, red clay soil. As the value of the cabbage is in large solid heads, the best fertilizer to use is that of rotted manure from grain-fed horses and cattle, with the addition of 1,000 pounds of high grade vegetable guano sown to the acre and well harrowed in before planting. Winter cabbage is mostly grown on early potato ground. This land, being heavily dressed with fertilizer for the potato crop—not more than 600 to 800 pounds of fertilizer will be needed for each acre planted. The fertilizer is nearly always sown in the drill. The drill rows are then covered in and the ridges rolled. Large growers now use the planter; the machine sets and waters each plant, very few plants fail to grow. Plants set by machine are better firm in the ground than plants set by hand. The old method of starting early plants in the fall and wintering them in a cold frame has now been abandoned in favor of sowing the seed in a hotbed. The hotbeds are prepared in February and the seed sown in the frames by the middle of the month. When the plants are two inches in height they are transplanted into cold frames. The plants are given abundance of air in the middle of the day, but well protected by glass and thick straw mats when the weather is cold and stormy. In the New England states early plants are raised in hot houses heated by hot water. Expert gardeners grow large quantities of early and late cabbage for their retail trade. Truckers grow for the wholesale markets. Their principal crops are kale, spinach, tomatoes, corn and cucumbers.

HANGER FOR ALL BARN TOOLS

Notches Cut in Board Afford Convenient and Safe Place for All Kinds of Implements.

Means should be provided to have a place for all tools used in and about a barn. The forks and shovels are usually stood up in a corner, but they can be more conveniently taken care of by making a hanger for them. The illustration, from Popular Mechanics, shows how a hanger can be easily made and screwed to the wall of a barn.

The hanger is cut from a piece of board and has a hole bored into it the size of the handle on the fork or shovel, then a notch is sawed into the hole to pass the handle through. The board may contain one or as many notches as there are forks and shovels to be hung on it. The implements are hung with the fork or shovel end upward.

Buckwheat Crops.

No other crop will bring in better return in the northern states for the time it occupies the ground than buckwheat. It is put in after the other crops have been planted and are growing. It is the best grain to raise to subdue a patch of troublesome weeds and to starve out worms in the soil. It comes handy to sow on vacant pieces of ground which have been left because too late to be sown to some other crop. It is a valuable crop to plow under to enrich the soil and give humus.

Wheat Fertilizer.

Phosphoric acid and potash gave a greater profit per $1 invested in fertilizer than complete fertilizer on both corn and wheat in some Indiana experiments on clay and loam soils. Fertilizer gave a greater average profit per acre on wheat than on corn, and was profitable in a much larger percentage of the experiments.

Seed Potatoes.

In 13 comparisons on the Minnesota station farm new seed, from outside sources, gave an average increased yield of 125 bushels of potatoes to the acre more than seed from varieties continuously grown on the farm for three to twelve years.

While on his way home to Marinette from Crandon Wednesday evening, Attorney E. C. Eastman met with a distressing accident. When he arrived at the W. & N. Mr. Roe escaped but one of Mr. Eastman's legs was broken at the hip. The passenger train stopped at the scene of the accident picked up the unfortunate attorney and carried him to Pembine. Reports from railroad men who came from Pembine are that he will probably lose his leg. Mr. Eastman has

NEW BOOKS AT LIBRARY

A new set of Norwegian books has just been received from the State Library Commission.

Other new books are as follows:

Durand—The red reign. This is a journalistic record of an American's journey through every section of Europe, Russia, Poland and Caucasus, and a part of Western Siberia. Mr. Durand's presentations are not only picturesque descriptions of a traveler nor yet merely thrilling stories of an active journalist, but contain a curate and authoritative observations on the social, economic, and political conditions of the country.

Tabell—The business of being a woman. A sane and earnest plea for the realization of the unique social and economic opportunity of the woman in the home as educator, enlightened consumer, center of social life, arbiter of the dress and servant questions and protector of friends and children. "The uneasy woman of today is to a large degree the result of the belittlement of her natural task and—her chief need is to dignify, make scientific and professionalize that task."

Servist—Astronomy in a nutshell. A work in which the fundamentals of theoretical and descriptive astronomy are presented in a manner so clear and concise as to be interesting and easily understood by the general reader. It presupposes only the most elementary knowledge mathematics and is intended especially for those who, without caring to go deeply into the subject, want to understand the underlying principles of time measurement, tides, seasons, eclipses and other familiar astronomical phenomena.

Fiction. Oraddock—Raid of the guerilla. Irwin—Letters of a Japanese school boy.

Juvenile. Hamer—The magic wand. Cyr—Story of three great artists.

Brica-Brac

One charming housewife has in her parlor a little cabinet with loaded glass doors, in which she keeps extra vases for flowers, photographs of friends, interesting postcards, and the keepsakes that too frequently litter the living rooms of the family. Here they are close at hand, and free from dust, while her rooms are doubly attractive because of their absence.

Some such plan is practicable in every house.
